BIG SANDY RIVER GETS BLACK EYE.

Army Engineers Recommend That No Further Improvement be Made on Stream.

Washington, Sept. 10 .- The improve ment of the Big Sandy river in Ken-tucky and West Virginia was given a knockout blow by the army engineers

The report shows that nearly $2,-000,000 has been spent on the Big Sandy, and that as far as benefits to commerce are concerned the results are practically nil, owing to the fact that railroads have been constructed which make it inexpedient to ship coal by water The facts set forth are so interest ing that Senator Borton, of Ohio, will make use of the entire report in fighting the pending rivers and harbors bill. The river and harbor act of July 25

1912, authorized a preliminary examination of the Tug and Levisa forks of the Big Sandy, with a view of deter-mining the feasability of the improve-ment already begun. The report, which opposed further appropriations, was approved by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors and by General Dan C. Kingman, Chief of Engineers.

In recommending the abandonment of the improvement of the Big Sandy the Board of Engineers for Rivers and

"The total expenditure by the United States to January $1, 1914, has been, in round numbers, $1,625,000 for conin round numbers, $1,525,000 for con-struction and $265,000 for operation and care. The latest report of com-merce show a total of 188,750 tons, valued at $1,800,000, consisting chiefly of logs, ties and similar forest pro-ducts. Figures are given for the com-merce existing on $\ell$' streams prior to the present it governent, from which it is found that the present insfwhich it is found that the present traffic does not show a very pronounced increase attributable to the improve-

"The special board that conducted the investigation reaches the conclu-sion that the physical conditions on the iver are so unfavorable as to pre-vent the development of any large commerce after the completion of the proposed improvement, and that the of such improvement would be excessive when compared with result-ing benefits. It therefore recommends that the stack-water improvement of the Tug and Levisa Forks of the Big andy be discontinued.

Democratic leaders of the Senate were in conference today, and reached a tentative agreement to reduce the appropriation in the pending rivers and harbors bill at least $20,000,000. This is in compliance with the sug-gestion made yesterday by the Presi-dent who realizes that this is an op-portune time for congressional econo-

JAMES B. HAGGIN DEAD AT AGE OF 94.

Richest Kentuckian Passes Away at Newport, R. I.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 12.-James B. Haggin, noted financier and horseman, passed away this evening. He was about 94 years old.

True to his Kentucky origin-born, as he was, at Harrodsburg, Ky., James B. Haggin became the greatest owner thoroughbred race horses in the world.

One story of his parentage relates that his father, a native of Kentucky, married a Turkish weman who had embraced the Christian faith and had fied from her native land to escape persecution. Her surname was Ben Ben Ali, and this became incorporated nto the name of the son, James Ben All Haggin.

Haggin went to California with the gold seekers in 1849, but instead of digging gold he began the practice of law with his brother-in-law, Lloyd Trevis. The first demonstration of wealth came when they purchased a mammoth ranch eight miles from Sac-

He turned to mining. In association with Marcus Daly and Senator Hearst, a remarkable trio of mining experts, in has owned or controlled more than a hundred mines. His interest in the famous Anaconda sold for $9,000,000. Another miles to South America, was no rich that he built a railroad 80 miles long, at a cost of $2,000,000, to carry its ore to market.

He became, in association with W. D. Carr, a great land owner and farm-er. His ranch in Kern county, California, was mariy as large as the state of Rhode Island. It was Haggin and Carr who established the right of irrigation in California, carrying the legal battle through every court in the state and out into the political field until they had established the legal right of the farmer to the water in the rivers and lakes. Without this right San Joaquin Valley and Southern California would at best be a grazing land and the great cities now standing there could be but visionary dreams.

For a time Haggin raised the largest crop of hops in America on his California farm and owned the largest flocks of sheep on the Pacific coast. He began as a horse breeder in 1881 on a modest scale, on the California ranch which later became famous as the Rancho del Paso and the breeding place of the famous race horse Salva-

As his California horse farm grew, Haggin turned back to his native state Kentucky and the blue grass sec tion. Here he brought the Elmendorf breeding farm, increasing the holdings until 1912, when he held 10,000 acres many thoroughbred race horses as any other man. Three of them, Salvator Miss Woodford and Firense, earned more than $350,000 in racing prizes.

"A man can't afford to be bossed by his pleasures," said Haggin at about the time he gave up harse breeding and turned his Kentucky estate into a tobacco farm, raising 500,000 pounds of tobacco a year. "That is worse than being bossed by your business." He moralized on horse breeding as "It is a fascinating occupation, and there is a lot of sentiment in it-more than in railways and copper mines; DESTROYED BY FIRE.

BIG SANDIAN WINS FAME AS BEST TRAP SHOT IN U. S.

Charles Riffe, of Kenova, who won the preliminary handicap at the na-tional shoot at Dayton on Wednesday afternoon, not only brought himself into national fame, but also the Huntington Gun Club, of which he is a member. Mr. Riffe is very popular and his feat caused the members of the Huntington Gun Club to wire him congratulations yesterday.

On the grounds of the National Cash Register Company, the Grand Ameri-can Handicap, America's premier shooting event, is being staged this week. Crack wing shots are there from every state in the Union, contesting for the year's highest honors.

The preliminary handicap is one of the most important events of the week. In it every contestant shoots at 100 flying targets, and to the highest score goes the honors, as well as the valu-able trophy from the interstate Trap-Shooters association. There were a total of 295 shooters in this year's renewal. Mr. Riffe and A. R. Chezik, of Portland, North Dakota, tied for high ore with 96 each. According to the National rules, all ties are shot off at 20 targets each. In the shoot-off Mr. Riffe won with a perfect score. Members of the local club are highly elated over Mr. Riffe's victory.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

And again it's Big Sandy against the world. Mr. Riffe, who has gained the high distinction of being the best trap shot in the United States, is a Police Judge Billie Riffe, who, although he has but one arm, is a crack shot himself. The prizes captured by Charles Riffe have the intrinsic value of several thousand dollars.

GROUND LIMESTONE

SHIPPED TO LOUISA

Mr. Kegley, the agricultural agent for Lawrence county, has had a car of ground limestone shipped to Louisa. and is selling it to farmers at cost, which we understand is $1.70 per ton. We are told by the best authorities that our soil needs this above everything else. It neutralizes the excess of acid and makes the land very produc-tive. Unlike the general run of commercial fertilizers it does not have to be put on the same soil every year Three or four tons per acre this year and an occasional application in smallor quantities during the next few years will prove highly profitable.

Farmers who do not avail them selves of this opportunity to enrich their soil are making a serious error.

LOUISA WATER ANALYZED AND FOUND TO BE PURE.

There having been considerable talk about the fitness or the unfitness of the water at the public school for drinking purposes, Mr. Dock Jordan sent a quantity of the fluid to the State bacteriologist for examination. This official has subjected the water to two 48 hour tests for the presence of bacteria and other impurities, and he has reported to Mr. Jordan that the water is absolutely free from taint of any description and is therefore fit water might become sick of typhold fever. Martin county's 249 paintings are valued at a gross sum of $329, while Laurel county has 3,568 books, the largest collections in private libraries of any in the State. Jefferson seems lacking in the matter of literature, having none taxed, and in the entire State are but 79 paintings taxed at $61,527, and 1,017 libraries containing 43,726 volumes.

IRRIGATION FOR TRUCK PATCHES ALONG RIVER.

We desire to repeat what we have often said before in regard to truck There is no better market than we have in the adjainywhere ent coal fields. The farmers living along the river ire in fine position to insure themselves against droughth. A comparaselves against droughth. A compara-tively small outlay would equip them for irrigating truck patches that would produce $1500 to $2500 per year. Mod-ern methods make it possible to produce a given amount on about half the acreage formerly required. A small gusoline engine and some pipe will put all the water necessary into the irrigating ditches. Just because nobody has done this on Big Sandy is no reason why the plan should not be adopted. It is being done elsewhere. Any of those western farmers who is accustomed to battling with arid lands under much greater difficulties would onsider this an easy proposition

An enterprising spirit and action is what we need to make this country blossom and prosper.

PRIZES FOR THE MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS.

Teacher of Best School.

While Congressman Fields cannot leave his duties in Congress to teach a moonlight school this year, he has volunteered just the same as have one thousand noble teachers in the State for he has offered a prize of $25.00 to the teacher in the Ninth Congressional the teacher in the Nith Congressional District who teaches the best moon-light school this year. Congressman Fields is very proud of the fact that mooslight schools to stamp out adult illiteracy originated in the Ninth Congressional District which is represented by him. Being unable to give his time to actual teaching, he gives that which some people value more than time, his money. It should be a great stimulus to the teachers of the Ninth Congressional District to know their Congressman is so deeply inter-ested in education and it will be, evidently, a great honor to win this prize, not only to the teacher but to the school district and the whole county as well. The prize will be awarded on the results obtained in enrollment, attendance and illiterates taught, all to be judged by the Kentucky Illiteracy School at Louisa on Sept. 28th. The Commission at Frankfert. Since Sen-Masonic Hall probably will be used ator James has offered a $50.00 prize to the teacher in the State who Geaches temporarily.
